

EXCLUSIVE RAIL EXPRESS 'OO' GAUGE LIMITED EDITION COLLECTOR'S MODEL No. 19

Class 37/5 No. 37670 St. Blazey T&RS Depot in DB Schenker red and grey livery

RAIL EXPRESS Magazine has joined forces with DB Schenker to offer this very special limited edition Bachmann model of one of the first veteran Class 37 diesels to be repainted in the bright red house colours of the German-owned freight operator

RAIL EXPRESS has once again teamed up with Bachmann Branchline to bring you a superb new 4mm scale 'OO' gauge limited edition release. The subject is DB Schenker Class 37 No. 37670, which was recently repainted in the bright red colour scheme of the German freight operator after being returned to traffic after a long period in store. The English Electric Type 3 was reactivated for use on railtours, charters and infrastructure workings over weight-restricted routes. It has been widely travelled throughout 2009 and can be easily justified on any contemporary layout or as part of a locomotive collection.

This officially approved and licensed model should be available in early March 2010 after we managed to negotiate and secure an early production slot with Bachmann's Chinese factory.

The model will incorporate the improvements introduced with our previous Class 37 releases such as better bogie brake cylinders. As a new release, wire handrails, opening doors, directional lighting and etched roof fan grille comes as standard. We will supply high quality etched stainless steel nameplates along with the usual numbered certificate of authenticity.

Two versions are being offered, the first (restricted availability - order early) incorporating factory-fitted DCC sound and the other being a standard 'DCC ready' release with 21-pin socket. The model - which will no doubt quickly become a sought after collector's item - is strictly limited to 1,000 pieces. Demand will inevitably be very high, and with a proportion of the run about to be pre-allocated and early order is recommended.
